ROCK PLANT LIST

All the plants in the following list are hardy, true to name and suited to almost all parts of the United States. Nearly all the plants we send out are pot grown to assure a good root system and lessen the shock of transplanting. The Heathers and a few other plants that do not like pot culture are field grown. All our plants are wrapped individually and carefully with all their roots and soil ball protected in damp peat moss and waterproof parchment paper. Our plants are never shipped bare root or wrapped five or ten to a bundle. All our plants are young, healthy and "rarin' to go." We never send out old, tired, overgrown, messy field clumps.

HEATHERS or CALLUNA VULGARIS

The Heathers are dwarf shrubs of indispensable value for the rock garden both for their neat and attractive evergreen foliage and for their colorful flowers that come in July and August when color is most needed. All the varieties listed below are perfectly hardy and quite distinct either in habit of growth or in color. No garden is complete without a quota of these fine specimens. All require an acid leafmold or peaty soil and at least four hours of full sun.

DWARF CONIFERS

All the dwarf trees offered here are young plants from two to four years old and do not yet represent their ultimate size or aspect. With the exceptions of the Juniperus horizontalis varieties they are all extremely dwarf and very slow growing kinds that will develop into very compact conical or globose forms in a short time. The Juniper varieties are somewhat faster growers that develop into lovely prostrate ground covers. Most of these small trees are now in our nursery and will be shipped with any other plants ordered in early spring. The others we have contracted to buy from wholesale growers and will be shipped in May, subject to our receiving them in good condition. The sizes range from two to ten or more inches, according to variety, growing habit and age. Most are of the right size for planting in miniature or sink gardens which are becoming very popular.
